Ask Authority To Retaliate On Seizures

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Kennedy will ask Congress for authority to retaliate if the British government seizes U.S. planes in a dispute over fares on North Atlantic air routes.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the bill would be sent to Congress later today.

He declined comment when asked if Democratic congressional leaders were asked to seek quick passage of the legislation when they met with the President for breakfast this morning. Salinger would only say that they were informed of the bill.

The British and several other foreign countries are trying to force Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines to charge increased fares over the North Atlantic routes, despite objections by the United States.

The higher rates had been agreed on by the International Air Transport Association last fall.

Julian Amery, British minister of aviation, Monday accused the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board of inciting the two airlines to "break our law." He told the House of Commons:

"The situation is unacceptable and cannot be allowed to continue."

He has threatened to confiscate American airliners landing in London.

School Fund Issue Back In Legislature

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The issue of using public funds to help educate youngsters in private or church schools is back before the Missouri Legislature today.

Most members thought the issue was dead for this session when the House last week refused to consider a bill that was rejected by its judiciary committee earlier. The bill would have entitled private and parochial school students to free bus transportation.

But Monday a group of St. Louis area legislators introduced a constitutional amendment proposal that would let the Department of Public Health and Welfare provide state funds for transporting the pupils of private and parochial schools.

And Monday night a House committee deferred action on a bill in which the church issue was raised again. It would provide state scholarships for outstanding or needy students who want to go to college.

Former State Sen. E. Gary Davidson of Webster Groves told the Higher Education Committee he thought public funds paid in scholarships to a church operated college would be a breach of the constitution. He said he was representing the Missouri Council of Churches.

Rep. Charles A. Sheehan, D-Jefferson County, a strong supporter of state aid for transportation of all school students, also was chief sponsor of the scholarship bill. He said he believed the courts and the present law would permit state scholarships, even to youths going to a church operated college.

Monaco's Royal Family to See New York Sights

NEW YORK (AP)—The royal family of Monaco is to spend the next two weeks in New York, seeing the sights, attending hit shows and viewing the royal ballet.

Prince Rainer and Princess Grace of Monaco and their children arrived Monday night from Philadelphia, where they visited the family of Princess Grace, the former Grace Kelly.

The princess arrived at the Hotel Regency with the couple's son, Prince Albert, 5. Prince Rainer drove here with their daughter, Princess Caroline, 6.

The family checked into a 20th-floor suite of three bedrooms, a living room, kitchenette and three baths, with railed terraces overlooking Park Avenue.

Cash Is Missing From Vending Unit At Stewart Cafe

An undisclosed amount of money is missing from a cigarette machine as the result of a break-in at the Jim Stewart cafe, a Negro establishment at Pettis and Montebau.

Police Sgt. Charles Stuart and Officer Ed Finnell discovered the break-in at 4:40 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Investigation showed the front door had been pried open and the front of the cigarette machine pried off. A juke box in the establishment had also been pried open.

US Cancels Some Atomic Explosions

Not Related To New Kennedy Note From Red Leader

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has abruptly canceled a trio of explosions at its Nevada nuclear testing site. The action followed word that President Kennedy is studying a new note from Soviet Premier Khrushchev on test ban negotiations.

A White House spokesman denied there was any relationship between the two developments.

Without explanation, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday that it and the Defense Department were calling off "three small sub-kiloton detonations" which had been scheduled for this month.

Two were to involve nuclear devices, the third a chemical high explosive.

Radio Moscow had complained that the U.S. tests were aimed at producing new types of nuclear weapons and added in a veiled threat:

"One thing is clear, the USSR is not going to stand by idly watching the U.S. perfect its nuclear weapons."

U.S. Sources said the Khrushchev letter made no change in the Soviet position on a nuclear test ban—"it moves neither forward or backward."

The letter, also addressed to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, made no mention of a threat Khrushchev had made to withdraw his offer to permit two or three inspections on Soviet soil to police a ban agreement.

The letter was in response to a message last month from Kennedy and Macmillan urging Khrushchev to help get the Geneva test ban talks off dead center.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said Kennedy received the Moscow note shortly after his news conference Wednesday.

It was at this conference that the President said he was "not hopeful" that a test ban agreement "could be reached with Russia."

"If we don't get it now," he added, "I would think perhaps the genie is out of the bottle and we'll never get it back in again."

Tension Gripping Alabama

Combat Ready Troops Within Strike Distance

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Uncertainty and apprehension continued to grip this racially troubled city today as 3,000 combat-ready troops stood within striking distance in the event of new outbreaks of major violence.

Scattered violence was reported during the night. Two persons were hurt. Automobile windshields were smashed and windows were broken in about a dozen buildings.

A white youth was slashed on his right elbow with a knife. He said he was attacked by a group of Negroes. A Negro man was hospitalized after he was struck in the face by a large steel ball fired from a slingshot, apparently.

Police arrested two Negroes early today in connection with attacks on officers during the Sunday riot. Carl Ivory, 33, was charged with two counts of assault with intent to murder. Police Capt. B. F. Walker said. Erskine Browning, 26, was charged with one count of assault with a deadly weapon—a rock.

Walker said Ivory was charged with stabbing Policeman Jack N. Spivey and Sgt. R. E. Lambert during a melee near the Gaston Motel, one of the targets of bombers before rioting erupted.

President Kennedy ordered the troops into the state, but Gov. George C. Wallace says the action is illegal and hinted that he may seek a federal injunction to keep federal forces out of the city.

Wallace and Kennedy may meet Saturday at Muscle Shoals, Ala. The President is scheduled to attend an observance by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Man Ill With Mumps At Ripe Age of 99

READING, England (AP)—Henriker Thorp has made what could be medical history—he has the mumps at the age of 99.

"We have never before heard of anyone getting this illness so late in life," said one of his doctors. "We are writing the case up for medical records."

"I can't think how I caught it," said the patient.

Lays Down Railroad Guidelines

Would Gradually Remove Firemen In Some Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—A three-man presidential panel laid down broad guidelines today for gradual removal of most firemen from freight and yard trains, central issue in a work rules dispute that threatens a nationwide rail strike June 12.

In a report to President Kennedy, the panel said the issues between the railroads and the five operating brotherhoods have been narrowed, and an agreement can be reached in the next 30 days if both sides will bargain realistically.

"The next 30 days will be important not only to the parties, but also to the nation, and to the future of collective bargaining as an effective method of disputes settlement. Although the general public is not a formal party to this dispute, each citizen in the United States has an acute interest in its resolution," the report said.

The central issue is the recommendation of an earlier presidential commission—named by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower—which proposed eliminating 40,000 firemen from freight and yard trains.

The railroads contend outmoded work rules cost them $600 million each year. They call these rules "featherbedding."

As a result of negotiations within the last month, the three-man panel said the railroads have agreed that the bulk of the work performed by firemen on freight diesels is necessary, but that in most cases it can be combined with work performed by other employees.

Lay Asphalt Aisles At Fairgrounds

A project of laying asphalt aisles in the beef and dairy cattle barns at the Missouri State Fairgrounds in Sedalia has been recently completed. These new walkways will add greatly to the convenience of the exhibitors in caring for their cattle and fairgoers viewing the exhibits will find the aisles free from dust and debris that have cluttered the barns for many years.

Maintenance, carpenter and painting crews have been busy during recent weeks cleaning, repairing and painting the buildings and already much improvement in the general appearance is in evidence.

A new 32x62 foot maintenance shop has been erected just south of the coliseum. The new building of all steel construction provided ample space for working on three trucks or tractors at one time, storage and work bench facilities.

Other improvements scheduled for pre-fair months are a water main enlargement and extension project, new rest room with shower bath facilities for men in the cattle barn area and extensive repair and repainting of the Fair's many wooden buildings.

The old wooden agriculture building erected in 1910 has been razed and the site cleared. A portion of the ground along the west side of the lot has been allocated to the Highway Department for the purpose of enlarging the beautifully landscaped gardens.

This year the remainder of the area has been committed to the Missouri Volunteer Fire Fighters Association for the erection of an educational "Fire Prevention" display. This group will also sponsor daily demonstrations of the latest firefighting equipment, methods and techniques as well as providing crews to man 24-hour fire protection for the fair.

According to W. H. Litzenthaler, Secretary of the Fair, no effort is being spared to have the 276-acre grounds and its many buildings in top of condition to provide the maximum in comfort and convenience of patrons when the Fair opens on Saturday Aug. 17, for its nine-day stand.

Cooper's Orbital Try Re-set After Bermuda Radar Fails

Flight Is Delayed Only Minutes Before Blastoff

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr.'s big try for 22 orbits around the earth, postponed after a radar failure in Bermuda, has been scheduled for Wednesday.

Soon after today's flight was called off, only 12 minutes before blastoff, space officials were setting a new time.

At 6 p.m., EST, today the radar system will be checked again.

If all is going well, Cooper will repeat his routine with the takeoff scheduled for somewhere between 8 and 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Walter C. Williams, Project Mercury operation director, made the announcement at a hastily called news conference. He pointed out that the radar system is essential in making sure that the astronaut is entering outer space successfully.

"We could not, we would not go without it," Williams said.

When Cooper was informed of the scrub, his only comment was: "This was a very realistic simulation." The remark was relayed by Williams.

Williams also said the weather prediction for Wednesday is approximately the same as for today.

Liquid oxygen will be removed from the giant Atlas rocket but it is not necessary to scrub out the tanks as it has been on previous flights. Space officials said that the Bermuda radar is the sole problem as of now in determining whether the flight will go Wednesday.

As for the astronaut, he finally got out of his capsule at 11:27 a.m. He had been in the space ship for 5 hours and 50 minutes.

The effort was called off for the day at 9:57 a.m. as Cooper, 36-year-old Air Force major, waited out the countdown while sealed in his tiny Faith 7 spacecraft atop the fully fueled Atlas booster.

The countdown had progressed to within 12 minutes of launching. The postponement came as an anticlimax after earlier troubles had held up the scheduled launching for two hours and nine minutes.

That trouble was caused by a diesel engine designed to move the giant service tower away from the launching pad. It was necessary to replace a fuel pump and purge foreign matter from the fuel line before the engine could operate.

Indications of the radar trouble came only about 15 minutes before the launching was called off. The tracking station at Bermuda said it was experiencing intermittent difficulty, but Mercury Control officials decided to continue the countdown in case the radar could be repaired.

Ex-Sedalian, Common-Law Wife Killed

A former Sedalia resident and his common-law wife, Vaughn Rufus Webb, 52, and Lola Webb, 53, were shot to death in a car southwest of Des Moines, Iowa, early Sunday morning, according to word received in Sedalia by relatives. A 64-year-old man has been charged with murder in connection with the shooting. It was reported.

According to information received here, the couple was in a car with Charles Arthur Morgan, who was arrested and then charged with murder.

Police said Morgan and the Webbs had gotten into an argument and Morgan shot the two with a .38-caliber revolver. Morgan is being held in jail without bond.

The police reported Webb was a Negro and his wife a white woman, who never lived in Sedalia.

Webb was born and reared in Sedalia and at one time operated an eating establishment near the Washington Avenue Viaduct and St. Louis Street. He left here several years ago.

Webb is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mattie Bohannon, 317 East St. Louis and a nephew, Clay Bohannon, also of the same address. Mrs. Bohannon said Monday afternoon she was leaving to go to Des Moines. She received word of the killings Sunday afternoon.

OAS Mission Arrives In Critical Area

Team to Look At Haiti-Dominican Troubled Areas

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A peace mission of the Organization of American States arrived Monday night for another look at the Haitian-Dominican crisis, eased further by the Dominican Republic's announcement that it is withdrawing its troops from the Haitian border.

Part of the OAS fact-finding team was to fly on today to Port au Prince, where opponents of President Francois Duvalier have vowed to assassinate him by Wednesday.

The Dominican government's announcement gave no reason for the troop pullback.

The main consideration apparently was Haiti's gradual release of Duvalier opponents who had taken refuge in Latin American embassies in Port au Prince. Dominican President Juan Bosch rushed troops to the border two weeks ago after Haitian militiamen invaded the Dominican Embassy in search of refugees there.

AP correspondent William L. Ryan reported from Port au Prince that the consensus there was that Duvalier would survive to start a second presidential term despite opposition vows to destroy him.

Duvalier's first six-year term expires Wednesday. Although the Haitian constitution bars a president's re-election, he is to be inaugurated May 22 for a second six-year term to which he declared himself elected after a rigged election two years ago.

Ryan said fear of an uprising was evidenced by a steady exodus of Haitians from Port au Prince into the countryside.

Opposition leader Clement Barbot, once Duvalier's trusted deputy president, apparently was still heading an underground band somewhere in the country. Interior Minister Luc Francois said reports that Barbot had gone into asylum in the Argentine Embassy were not true.

Barbot, a master of terrorist tactics, has sworn to assassinate Duvalier by Wednesday. Circulars were distributed in Port au Prince several weeks ago threatening that a revolution would start Wednesday.

Pesky Owls Take Dives at Heads: Finally Killed

Two Sedalia policemen, Sgt. William Miller and Officer Robert Vogler, went bird hunting about 7:30 p.m. Monday. They were sent to 1812 South Stewart where owls were reported "diving down and snacking people in the head."

Upon arrival, Vogler was standing near a man who was watching the birds, when one dived on the man. Vogler thought this was very amusing, but soon had different ideas when one of the birds hit his motorcycle helmet, putting a scratch on the back.

Miller reported that all the birds they could spot, three in number, were killed.

Focus On Racial Crisis In Discussion

Sharp Criticism

Ike Accuses Administration Of Unnecessary Spending

NEW YORK (AP)—Saying that "in effect, we are stealing from our grandchildren in order to satisfy our desires of today," former President Dwight D. Eisenhower accuses the Kennedy administration of "spending for spending's sake."

Eisenhower's comments, in an article in the Saturday Evening Post's current edition, were some of his sharpest criticisms yet of his successor in the White House.

The former president said his "sense of duty as a citizen demands that I speak out bluntly regarding what I believe to be a clear danger which could threaten our free way of life and our security as a nation."

"That threat," he said, "is the determined effort of our current political leaders to commit the United States to a risky, highly experimental fiscal adventure, based on a questionable theory which I call 'spending for spending's sake.'"

Eisenhower called attention to the administration's $98.8-billion budget, its proposed tax cut which he said would reach more than $10 billion a year by 1965, and a fiscal deficit which he said will total $11.9 billion.

"My first reaction to these proposals was one of amazement—and no doubt many other Americans reacted the same way," he wrote.

"What can those people in Washington be thinking about? Why would they deliberately do this to our country? I asked myself."

Saying he favors a tax cut, combined with a cut in spending.

Legal Betting Would Produce $20 Million

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Legalizing at-the-track betting on horse and dog racing would produce $20 million in revenue a year for the state, a House committee was told Monday night.

Rep. James W. Williams, D-Buchanan County, sponsor of the proposed constitutional amendment, said "this would be entirely under state control so the shysters wouldn't come in."

The state would own and operate the tracks.

Under Williams' plan, 30 per cent of the take would go for higher education, 30 per cent for mental health, 30 per cent for general revenue and 10 per cent for operating costs of a 10-member racing commission.

The House committee plans to hear opponents next week. Similar proposals have failed repeatedly in recent years.

Rep. J. S. Lincon, R-Harrison County, told another committee every Missouri high school student should be taught the superiority of the free enterprise system over Communism.

He spoke for his bill to require the schools to teach a course in "Americanism vs. Communism," with special emphasis on the dangers and fallacies of the Communist system.

Eisenhower said: "I still insist that the proposed budget is extravagant and can be cut by billions of dollars without harming a single essential federal function."

Many budget items have become distended beyond reason, he said.

As an example, he mentioned that subsidies, originally intended as a wartime production incentive, have become imbedded in the farm economy and comprise much of the $5.7 billion allotted for agriculture.

He advocated an "orderly step-by-step" procedure in the nation's space effort rather than "launching wildly into crash programs on many fronts."

"This," he said of the space program, "is where we seem to have got out of focus."

He made reference to what he termed "stunts and unnecessary contests."

Noisy Riot In Downtown Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Negro students, demanding desegregation of all public accommodations, clashed with police and rock-throwing whites in a noisy 2-hour demonstration in downtown Nashville Monday night.

A few hours later, police were sent to the home of a Negro leader who said a shotgun blast fired from a car smashed through the window of his home and narrowly missed his wife.

Mayor Beverly Briley continued his efforts to reach a biracial accord and "preserve the peace."

Negro leaders scheduled another meeting for late today to press their demands:

1. Desegregation of all public accommodations such as hotels, motels, restaurants and lunch counters. Some eating places, all downtown theaters, the baseball park and the civic auditorium are integrated.

2. Better employment opportunities for qualified Negroes.

3. Dropping of all charges now pending against students arrested while demonstrating against segregation—dating back to the start of the sit-in movement in 1960.

The shotgun blast ripped through the front window at the home of H. E. Braden, executive vice president of the Nashville Christian Leadership Council. No one was injured.

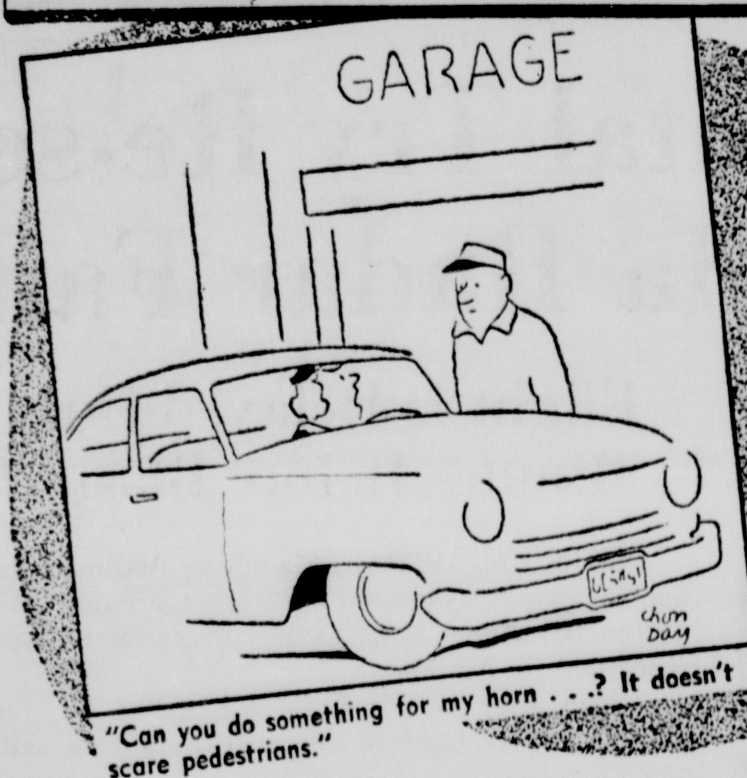

The downtown demonstration came during the height of the dinner hour and was marked by frequent outbreaks of violence as hundreds of white persons gathered—some of them hecklers, others just spectators.

Police arrested five persons, one of them white. Two others were hospitalized.

Rocks and glass showered the demonstrators as they approached two segregated restaurants, the scene of protests last week.

Frank Witte Marks 98th Anniversary

Frank Witte quietly observed his 98th birthday on May 6, at the home of his daughter, Nola, and her husband, W. A. Coester, 619 West 23rd, where he has resided since the death of his wife in 1945.

Witte was born near Berlin, Germany, on May 6, 1865, and still has relatives there. Each year his first birthday cards and letters come from two nieces there, one from behind the iron curtain or wall of Berlin and the other from Bavaria. He must use a magnifying glass for reading and enjoyed opening all the cards he got, but sometimes couldn't make out the names if they were written too small. He had no trouble, however, reading the last card he got, which arrived two days late, and he won't forget that one for a long time. It was from his grandson, R. Wiesner, who is a commercial artist in Chicago and when he unrolled it it measured four feet wide and three feet high with huge four and a half inch red lettering. It is taped to the wall across from his rocker and without any effort he can read the message: "Happy Birthday to 'Grosspapa' from Reinhold!" Grosspapa is German for grandfather.

Members of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church, of which he is a member, and the pastor, Rev. Walter Strickert, visit him each month. He loves company and enjoyed the visits from relatives and friends on his birthday, many of whom brought him gifts of cakes, candy, fruit, wine and tobacco.

Mr. Witte is in good health for his age, but his hearing, like his eyesight has failed and he isn't able to hear very good. Nevertheless he has a wonderful disposition, his daughter says.

He sits at his window, smoking his pipe, and watching the world go by, and one thing he always looks forward to is the Sedalia

Democrat he has read for many years.

Inflation Raises Question Of How Much Is Good

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—How much inflation would be good for the country?

The question is heard again as a few prices here and there are jacked up after a period of stability, as workers ask higher wages or job security that adds to operating costs, as prospects for larger federal deficits renew fears of more monetary inflation.

The answer to how much would be good for those living on fixed incomes or on wages that are slow to hit any up-trail is: none.

Some businessmen, however, hold that a moderate inflation would start the general economy rolling faster and thus would help more than it would hurt. And workers best able to keep wage boosts even with or ahead of general price increases often see inflation as only a theoretical problem.

A favorite argument is that the nation must choose between price stability and unemployment through stagnation.

The cost of living, in fact, has kept rising in most of the post-war years, slowly of late after several big spurts that were really felt. Even this creeping inflation pinches the many whose incomes are set or don't respond quickly to a general trend.

The most popular rule of thumb now is that wages and prices should rise only as productivity does. But to work, the benefits of this rising productivity—more goods at less cost per unit—must be shared by all parts of the population.

Challenging the argument that "a moderate degree of inflation is necessary to spur economic growth and to create new employment opportunities," Dr. Marcus Nadler, consulting economist of Manufacturers Hanover Trust of New York, holds that this has been disproved in this country and abroad.

"Inflation tends to channel the flow of capital into speculative ventures seeking high return and in the long run slows the economic growth rate," the bank economist says.

But as long as the economy doesn't grow fast enough to provide jobs for an increasing labor force, the questions will be heard: Shouldn't take-home pay rise so that there will be more purchasing power to buy more goods?

Shouldn't prices rise so that better profit margins will furnish both incentive and funds to invest to make more business and more jobs?

Shouldn't the government collect less in taxes and spend more—by borrowing—to increase purchasing power and investment funds?

Would all this be inflationary in a bad sense?

A lot of people, as well as Dr.

of New York, holds that this has been disproved in this country and abroad.

Charles Wendt, 2206 West Fifth, reported at 12:30 p.m. Sunday that a cigarette was thrown into his 1960 car while it was parked on the Kroger parking lot and he was in the store. The cigarette burned the left front seat of the car.

A car was found vandalized and over in a ditch at Fifth and Limit at 5 p.m. Sunday. Police said the car belonged to Wayne Johnson, 1717 West Ninth, and had been left there after stalling Saturday night. Vandalism apparently broke the windows out of the car and pushed it into the ditch.

Two youths picked up late Sunday night in an alley in the 200 block on East Broadway turned out to be runaway juveniles from Kansas City, Kan.

The pair at first were booked by police, one on a charge of careless and imprudent driving, and the other on investigation of prowling, but a check with Kansas City, Kan. authorities showed the names and other information the two had given were false. They were put on a bus for Kansas City, Kan. and their parents notified.

Yul Brynner Clocks Lots Of Air Miles

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In an era when actors have reverted to their gypsy origins, Yul Brynner may be the traveling star.

Not even the ubiquitous Bob Hope has clocked as many air miles as has the smooth-topped Brynner. He makes movies from Argentina—"Taras Bulba"—to Japan and Rome—"Flight from Ashiya"—to Mexico—"Kings of the Sun," which he just completed—and occasionally, Hollywood.

He also makes lengthy journeys on behalf of the United Nations, for which he has worked in its refugee program—he carries a U.N. passport. Besides all this, he just travels. When he would get five days off "Ashiya" in Japan, he'd fly to his Switzerland home to visit his wife, who was expecting a baby.

For the multitude of Americans who will be visiting foreign lands this summer, Brynner is worth listening to. During his brief stop-over here, I queried him on tips for travelers.

"The most important thing," he began, "is to remember that when you pay your $2,000 or whatever to the travel agent for your fare and accommodations, it does not buy you a piece of the countries you visit. Those countries don't owe you anything. You owe them something: your good behavior as a guest in their homeland."

Other tips:

"Most American tourists take too much and bring home too much. There's no need to take a different wardrobe for every possible occasion. Just a few outfits will do.

"People still think they have to go to Europe laden with boxes of Kleenex and other necessities. Kleenex is just as widespread as Coca Cola abroad. So is aspirin, and almost anything else you would need.

"As for taking a lot of washable clothes, it isn't necessary. In most hotels you can send out your laundry in the morning and get it back in the evening, beautifully done.

"Tourists shouldn't be too concerned with what I call the mechanical aspects of traveling—problems of customs, or bathroom facilities, of the water. They should view each country as a new experience. What does it have to offer?

"The only way to know a country is to know its people. How do you do that? The best way is to learn 10 words of their language—no more are necessary. When they hear you extending the courtesy of using their language, they respond immediately. They know you are interested in them not as 'natives' but as human beings."

Heavy Rains Hit Wide Missouri Area In Ozarks

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Up to 7½ inches of rain fell in the Southern Missouri Ozarks Monday as a violent storm lashed a wide area with wind, hail and flash floods.

The heaviest rain was reported in the Henderson community in Webster County, while 2 to 5 inches fell around Springfield.

At West Plains several persons said they saw a tornado funnel. A three-story wholesale house in West Plains lost part of its roof. Parked cars were damaged by bricks blown off the building. Power lines were broken by falling tree limbs.

Americans Hold a Growing Financial Stake In Space

By SAM DAWSON
Ap Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Hundreds of companies and dozens of American communities have a financial stake in the ventures into space. The stake is about $15 billion now and is growing rapidly. Often the individual fortunes and prospects of corporations and cities can change overnight. The space industry has perhaps the fastest rate of obsolescence.

What man will discover out there can't be foretold with certainty. Nor can the new demands the nation will make upon industry to meet the challenge of still more novel space programs which seem likely to spring from some of the $7 billion which the government is pouring this year into military research.

A new government order can spell prosperity for a firm and the communities housing its plants. A sudden cancellation of government orders — and some have been big ones—can wreck the prospects at one blow.

One big changeover for the industry came when the Defense Department's eyes turned from aircraft to missiles. Orders for new planes dropped from 9,000 a year to around 2,000. But corporations that could make missiles got new fat orders and hundreds of companies supplying parts then bloomed.

The changeover was felt in other ways. Making planes calls for much larger plants and the use of much more raw materials than missiles. The numbers and skills of workers are far different, too. Many communities felt the change sharply and the whole economy to some extent.

Now there's apparently another change. Orders for new missiles are beginning to level off. The new emphasis is on fewer but more expensive units. Changing needs are part of the reason the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's spending has gone up from $339 million in 1959 to a request for $5.7 billion in the coming year.

Today's emphasis on building rockets that can boost man toward the moon and beyond may shift to contracts for the actual spacecraft.

The stock market has watched all this with some confusion at first and considerable caution of late. A big new contract will give a company's stock a boost—and a cancellation will topple it.

The big questions for investors still will be: Just which company will or can make the particular device that so volatile an endeavor as conquering space—and doing it first—will demand, and which will see its expensively developed product dubbed obsolete.

Controversy Over Use Of Police Dogs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police dogs have sprung into the news and into controversy.

Last week, Birmingham, Ala., police used them against Negro demonstrators. A blood-chilling picture of a snarling German shepherd leaping a demonstrator was seen all over the country. There were protests in Congress and from civil rights groups.

Providence, R.I., authorities used dogs last weekend to block an invasion of the downtown area by several hundred youths, many of them college students, on a spring fever foray.

London police used dogs, too, over the weekend against ban-the-bomb demonstrators.

The thinking behind use of dogs in crowd control is humans' innate fear of them, according to a spokesman for the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Inc. The dogs are intended primarily as psychological devices rather than for attacking, he said.

Their use is relatively new in this country. Some police officials contend dogs are a bonafide technique. Others feel they are of dubious value.

Nonetheless, in 10 years K9 corps have become a part of many big city police departments.

London has been using police dogs for about 20 years and is a sort of focal point for their training and use. Baltimore and St. Louis sent men to London to study before setting up their police canine corps in 1956 and 1958, respectively. These two cities also assist police of other cities in training dogs.

"Training is a sort of cooperative affair among police," said the spokesman for the police chiefs association.

Each city adapts the dogs for its own use. They are used for patrolling, scenting out hiding criminals, guarding prisoners and dispersing crowds.

St. Louis has one dog, Duke I, trained as a narcotics sniffer to locate packets of narcotics on a person.

Police dogs usually are German shepherds, sometimes Doberman Pinschers, two breeds that can be highly trained for the work. Usually one dog becomes the partner of a specific officer and lives at his home.

The dog is drilled to react immediately to a command. Basic obedience includes sit, down, stay, bark on command, retrieve on command and jump on command.

Sometimes he is taught to stop a fleeing man by barking until his handler can arrive at the scene. This sometimes requires gripping the man's sleeve.

The police chiefs association has

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

FORD GALAXIE 360-2L SPORTS HARDTOP

IF YOU KNEW WHAT

TINY LUND KNOWS ABOUT FORD DURABILITY...YOU'D BE OUT ENJOYING A '63 FORD

Ask Tiny Lund about Ford durability. He'll tell you how it helped him win America's toughest stock-car competition, the Daytona 500. Lund placed first in a Ford, with four other Fords right behind him for an unprecedented sweep of the first five places. Only the Fords were tough enough to stand the pace.

Greater durability is the reason Ford is able to offer a total-car warranty. Only a few total-performance cars could make as complete a warranty as this—with no strings attached.

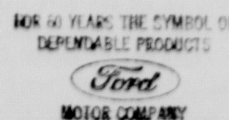

Ford Motor Company warrants to its dealers, and its dealers, in turn, warrant to owners as follows: That for 24 months or for 24,000 miles*, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Sizes are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will be made by the two companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance services, routine replacement of parts, such as filters, spark plugs, ignition points, wiper blades, brake or clutch linings, and normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items.

You can't put a long-term warranty like ours on a short-term car. The '63 Fords have a better warranty because they're built better than any Fords in history. You see evidence of this extra toughness in Ford's outstanding competitive wins this year.

'63 Fords won the grueling Daytona, Riverside, and Atlanta 500s, and the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only cars with total performance could roll up so many big wins. Before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Remember: If it's built by Ford, it's built for performance...total performance.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Several years ago my husband and I got so deeply in debt we didn't know what to do. My husband went to see a friend about borrowing some money. The friend advised him to file a petition in bankruptcy. My husband took his advice because it seemed to be the only way out.

I haven't had a good night's sleep since. I keep going over the list of people we owe money to and it's driving me crazy. My husband says I am nuts—that a lot of decent people go through bankruptcy and it's a perfectly honest and legal way to get out from under.

All his talking doesn't help, I still feel guilty. We owe a few small bills now but if I went back to work I would be able to clear them up and start to repay the people who lost on us. Am I nuts as my husband says, or should I go ahead and do it?—CONSCIENCE

Color Adds To Contrast Of TV Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Color adds something to any program, including a Western. "Bonanza" has beautiful landscape, and once in a while on my set I'm surprised to find a very red pair of cheeks or ears on the hero or even the heroine.

But day in, day out, the most gratifying programs to the owner of a color set are the variety programs where rich backgrounds and sharp contrast show up most effectively.

It's fun to observe Perry Como in his lavender or tangerine sweaters and see Lawrence Spivak looking pink and earnest against a dark blue patriotic background. But for the feminine viewer the Dinah Shore show has been the most fun of all.

Miss Shore wears beautiful, chic and subtly colorful clothes and seems to it that her feminine guest stars do too. Sometimes, in fact, we women become so bemused by the rich red taffetas, or the sand-colored chiffon, or the artful beadwork on the bodices, that we really don't pay as much attention as we should to the rest of the program.

Therefore, we're going to miss the Dinah Shore show next season when the star enjoys a sabbatical from television and its discipline. We're going to miss the color, the clothes and, of course, the music.

Sunday night's show, her last for a while, was a good example

Points Out Viewers Not Glued to TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—When those vital Nielsen ratings, listing television's top ten programs, come out every two weeks, one is likely to look at the estimates of astronomical numbers of persons in the audience and imagine millions of people glued rapturously to their chairs by the antics of, say, "The Beverly Hillbillies."

The other night, I paid some attention to the four people in my living room, all watching—if that's the word—a popular variety show. The star came on and sang an opening song, but about half-way through one member of the audience said, loudly: "I understand he's very happily married."

This failed to elicit much of a conversation. As the next number—a stand-up comedy routine—started, another viewer gave a sharp exclamation, jumped up and disappeared into another room. She returned in the middle of a joke with a stamped, addressed envelope and a long explanation about how important it was to get it mailed. We all missed the tagline. We just about finished the talk about the letter when it was time for the commercial.

At this point the fourth member of the viewing team, departed for the kitchen to make a glass of iced coffee which resulted in a three-party search for a missing saccharine bottle.

So it went for a solid hour. The telephone was answered twice (one wrong number), one entire production number was overlooked during a discussion about the unfortunate choice of a formal ball gown by a guest star. All told, I don't believe there was 10 consecutive minutes of quiet, uninterrupted viewing during the 60 minutes.

Okay, so five people were watching a program. That's the statistic. But what we saw was quite another thing.

Bing Crosby's No. 1 boy, Gary, has been signed to play Bill Dana's buddy and confidante in next season's NBC comedy series. Dana will play his familiar role of Jose Jimenez, who first appeared on the old Steve Allen show and then went on to the Danny Thomas series.

Lucille Ball and Vivian Vance are making some of next season's "Lucy Shows" during May and June—and it looks as if Dick Martin of the comedy team of Rowan and Martin will no longer play Lucy's handy bachelor neighbor, Harry, the airlines pilot.

The first show already filmed has Lucy going duck hunting with "a new boy friend," played by

Baptist Honors For a Former City Resident

James Robert Wild, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Wild, 5709 Durango, Riverside, Calif., formerly of Sedalia, received a certificate of recognition for being named to the 1963 American Baptist National Scholarship Honor Roll, and will be one of the 150 American Baptist young people chosen from among 1,140 teenagers nominated by churches throughout the United States.

The scholarship was presented in behalf of the American Baptist Convention, by the Rev. Owen L. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Riverside.

The selection was made on the basis of scholarship ability and achievement, personality, leadership and service potential and Christian commitment.

Wild is the grandson of Mrs. A. B. Wild, 620 South Massachusetts, and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wheeler, 1612 West Fourth. Mr. Wheeler is a patient in the Veterans Hospital at Wadsworth at the present time.

B'way Presby Present 'Step' May Meeting

The Women's Association of Broadway Presbyterian Church held May meeting Thursday in the Fellowship Hall. A Prayer Service was given at 11 a. m. and a sack lunch at 12 noon.

The afternoon meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Miss Jessie Browneller. Reports of Presbyterial were given by Mrs. John Schondelmeyer, Mrs. J. W. Lewis, Mrs. Vernon Cordry, Mrs. Ralph Vanderkamp, Mrs. Clyde Heynen, Miss Marjorie Rector, Mrs. John Miers and Mrs. Alma Johnson.

A report of a skit which was written by Mrs. Alvin Heynen and presented at Presbyterial meeting concerning church literature, was given.

The program of the afternoon on Christian Education, "A Step At a Time," was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Smith, assisted by Mrs. Robert James and Miss Marjorie Rector.

Mrs. Smith said the church sees three parts in its mission. First, to proclaim that God is reaching out to man, in spite of his estrangement from God and his rebellion against God; second, to provide a climate where man can meet God in Christ; third, to be concerned with the world about it.

Mrs. Smith said to "take a step in time," is to "take a right step," and to "take a step at the right time" on the local and national level, is the concern of the church.

The Year Book of Prayer was given by Mrs. W. T. Bishop. This month the missionary work in Brazil and Maryville and Knoxville Colleges was remembered.

Mrs. Garner Odell announced there will be a training retreat for all women of the church May 28 from 6 until 9:30 p. m.

May group meetings are as follows: Group 1 with Mrs. Vernon Cordry; Group 2 with Mrs. Charles Turner; Group 3 with Miss Elizabeth Lewis; Group 4 with Mrs. Ira Leiter.

Group 2, with Mrs. Charles Turner, service chairman, was in charge of the luncheon.

Cooper Considers Religion Important

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Although astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. is not a regular church-goer he considers religion important. He does not regard it, however, as something to turn to only in an emergency.

"Religion is important in all the things we do," he says, "but I don't think a man needs to fall back on his faith any more or less in this space project than in any other undertaking."

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said the incident occurred about 10:45 p.m. Saturday night after Davidson had words with Darrell Antoine, 18, who gave the same Kansas City address as Davidson.

Navy Clears Officer Of All Thresher Blame

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—The Navy has cleared a young officer of a possible scapegoat in the sinking of the nuclear submarine Thresher with 129 persons aboard.

The action came late Monday when a naval court of inquiry investigating the April 10 sinking some 220 miles east of Boston withdrew the name of Lt. Cmdr. Stanley W. Hecker as a party to the inquiry.

Hecker, 36, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was skipper of the USS Skylark, the Thresher's surface escort vessel and the ship which received the ill-fated submarine's death throes radio messages.

Hecker was censured by the court April 16. The court said then his conduct as commanding officer of the Skylark "appears to be subject to inquiry."

The court also emphasized that Hecker's apparent failure to inform higher authorities immediately of the Thresher's final messages cannot conceivably have contributed in any way to the loss of the $45-million submarine.

Atty. Louis P. Gray III, New London, Conn., Hecker's counsel, told the court Monday that subsequent testimony had shown that Hecker carried out his responsibilities fully.

Rear Adm. Lawson P. Ramage, deputy commander of the Atlantic Fleet submarine force, had testified last month he was unaware for 60 hours of the fact that Thresher's last clear radio message was one indicating trouble.

Hecker testified he gave this information to the officer who followed him as commanding officer in charge of the search for the Thresher.

Conferences Scheduled

The Federal Bureau of Investigation will hold a series of nationwide bank robbery conferences between now and June 1, 1963, in an effort to curtail the record number of crimes against banking institutions.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said that scheduling of these conferences for the second time in less than two years is an unprecedented move for the FBI, but a necessary one in view of the sharp increase last year in violations of the Federal Bank Robbery Laws. He noted that during 1962, a total of 1,250 violations were reported to the FBI. This was a record high which exceeded the 1961 total by over 30 per cent. It included 678 robberies, 352 burglaries and 220 larcenies of banks, credit unions and savings and loan associations.

The purpose of these conferences is to alert all law enforcement agencies to the jurisdiction of the FBI with regard to banking institutions and to the need of close cooperation among interested groups at all levels. The last series of law enforcement conferences devoted to bank robbery FBI in the Fall of 1961. More than 20,000 persons attended.

"There is no one specific reason for the increase in crimes against banking institutions," Mr. Hoover said. "While we are still plagued by the professional-type bank robber, a problem of growing concern is the great number of robberies committed by rank amateurs, many of whom have no record of any previous crime. Their modus operandi is all too familiar—the handing of a demand note to a bank teller with a threat of physical violence."

"These people apparently have not learned the lesson that bank robbery is not a profitable occupation," Mr. Hoover added. "Recently, we conducted a survey of 205 crimes against banking institutions which occurred during September and October, 1962. We found that the average loot for each robbery, burglary or larceny was $3,984.90. Of these 205 cases, no loot was obtained in 66. It would seem that bank robbery is hardly worth risks which involve 20 years in prison or a possible death penalty."

Mr. Hoover noted that during 1962, for violation of the Bank Robbery Statute, there were 471 convictions resulting in total sentences of 4,922 years, 3 months and 20 days. Stolen monies recovered amounted to $1,120,702.00.

The Special Agent in Charge of the Kansas City Office of the FBI, H. A. Fitzgibbon, stated one of conferences will be held by the FBI at Columbia National Bank, Columbia, Mo., from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on May 15, 1963.

Representatives from local and nearby law enforcement agencies and from the area banks, savings and loan companies and other banking type institutions will gather for a discussion of ways and means to bring about a reduction of crimes involving banks such as burglaries and robberies which have occurred in a number of Kansas and Missouri communities both large and small.

According to Fitzgibbon, FBI representatives will speak at the local conference. A representative of the Missouri Bankers' Association will speak also as will platform to take part in the scheduled discussions at the Columbia meeting are: U. S. Attorney F. Russell Millin, Kansas City, Mo.; Sheriff Lyburn Mann, Boonville; Sheriff August Schaefer, Linn; Chief Paul Cheavens, Columbia; Police Department; Chief William Barker, Eldon; Police Department; Lt. R. B. Jenkins, and Sgt. C. C. Maddox, Jefferson City, Mo.

Others scheduled to attend from this area are: Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin; local bank representatives: Sheriff J. T. Hull and City Marshall Melvin Hull, Versailles.

While in Florida they took a trip to Cypress Gardens and rode through pouring rain all the way. But as they arrived the rain stopped and they were able to see the gardens and the water ski show. The latter part of the trip was made in more favorable weather and they saw attractions at Silver Springs, Fla., and other points of interest through Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas.

The trip was made with seniors from Crocker and Quinn. All of the seniors from Houstonia made the trip. Included were: Diann Boulware, Vearril Cuthbert, Ella Dow, Bessie Rhodus, Marilyn Smiley, Ruth Ann Wood, Melvin Phillips, and Robert Allen Sevier. Class sponsor is Mrs. Walter Fricke. She and Mrs. Bob Sevier, Jr. accompanied the seniors.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A bill in the Louisiana House of Representatives would give women the legal right to change the color of their hair without disclosing their action.

The measure, introduced Monday by Rep. Margaret Lewis would not require a woman to tell the color of her hair when applying for a driving license.

Vacation Film Shown To Rotarians

A vacation film, "Wyoming's Wonderful Waterways" was the Sedalia Rotary Club program Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell. The film was made available by Fred Wertz, owner of the State Fair Marine.

The action was built around a typical American family who visited in Wyoming with boat and motor in tow. Lakes and streams that are seldom seen by the average tourist were waterways to Wyoming's unspoiled natural beauty. Moose, elk and bear were seen in their natural habitat.

The program was introduced by Kelly Williams, program chairman for May.

Keith Yount, president, announced the next meeting of the club—May 20—would be held at Whiteman Air Force Base, and that members are invited to bring their wives for this meeting. A tour of the base has been arranged for 4 p.m. The Rotary meeting will start at 6 p.m.

Guests introduced by Boyd Massey were: Dr. Robert Thompson, new Sedalia dentist, guest of Bob Phillips; Roy Fehlan, Rotarian, Rotarian; George Norton Tuttle, Boonville, Rotarian; George Whitney, New York City, Rotarian, guest of Harry Walch; and Eugene Rutherford, Warrensburg, Rotarian.

Oscar De Wolf gave the invocation. Group singing was led by Aubrey Case, with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

Says Blassie's Policies Caused Union Troubles

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The policies of union official Nicholas M. Blassie caused Local 88 of the International Meatcutters Union to be placed in receivership Monday, a union spokesman said.

Patrick E. Gorman of Chicago, international meat cutters secretary-treasurer, said the action was taken at the request of four local officers. He added that the local "had not been run exactly according to Hoyle."

Blassie, financial secretary-treasurer and head of the local for 26 years, said accusations against him were "vicious and unfounded."

The international named Harry Pool of Philadelphia as receiver. Pool, executive vice president of the union, took charge of local affairs pending a local 88 election.

International President Thomas Lloyd, asked what prompted the action, said:

"I don't want to go into all details, but abuse of personal power is the major reason. Things have gotten out of control in St. Louis."

Both Gorman and Lloyd said the action was in no way connected with the recent bombings of St. Louis Kroger stores. They said union officers "know no more than anyone else who was responsible."

Local 88 has been negotiating with Kroger and other area chain supermarkets for the past several months.

Deep South Trip Taken By Houstonia Class

Senior class members at Houstonia High School have nearly come to the conclusion that they are good rain-makers. The long dry spell which most of the country had been suffering was broken a few minutes before the class left Houstonia at 1 a.m. April 27 for its class trip. The rain followed them through every state on their way to and during their stay at Daytona Beach, Fla.

It was a wet, disappointed group of students which made its way through Rock City on Lookout Mountain in Tennessee. At the point where they should have been able to see seven states, they could hardly see the ground on which they were standing because of the fog.

While in Florida they took a trip to Cypress Gardens and rode through pouring rain all the way. But as they arrived the rain stopped and they were able to see the gardens and the water ski show. The latter part of the trip was made in more favorable weather and they saw attractions at Silver Springs, Fla., and other points of interest through Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Build on Pile of Moments

What do you tell a young man who is impatient to grasp the future and leave behind a task he heartily dislikes?

You can start, of course, by setting down carefully the responsibilities he bears to the job at hand—and the consequences of trying to duck out on them.

But there is a bigger answer to such a lad.

It is in the nature of life that it is an ever-changing mixture of excitements and monotony. Therefore it is to be expected that anyone in his lifetime may encounter an unrepeatable blend of challenging, attractive tasks and dull, thankless, disagreeable jobs.

Only rarely does a person find a course which frees him almost totally from the monotonous, unpleasant things that are part of most people's lot.

What is required of us is that we have, or develop, a marked capacity for enduring the inescapable monotony of life, the drudgery and dreariness of some routines.

What is also required is that we understand that few lives can be strung together from an endless series of exciting tasks successfully and perhaps dramatically performed.

The measure of a man is how he works at something he does not really care to do but must do. For such work again and again forms the bridge to other things he does want to do.

Not many endeavors are so hopeless as to yield a man or a growing boy no profit in experience or learning for the future. The man bent toward genuine achievement builds on all his endeavors.

In a play by Lillian Hellman, a middle-aged fellow who kept yearning for great accomplishment finally saw the truth:

"There are no great moments to build upon."

Sir Winston Churchill is hailed now as a giant of a man. Yet on the eve of his ascent to the prime-ministership of Britain in World War II, men could reasonably say his life to that moment was a tapestry heavily threaded with failure, frustration, disappointment.

When later he said it seemed to him then that his whole life was but a preparation for that hour, he meant it literally—the errors, the defeats, the stretches of oblivion, all of this along with the glowing moments of success.

So, say to the young man: "Take it all—the valleys with the peaks, the gray and black with the vivid colors, the biting challenge with the grooved routine."

Aside from the exquisite exception, that is how it is for all of us. We should seek the peaks—but not despair when we are in the valleys.

Mystery Flowers

An unknown admirer continually places flowers on the grave of Mary E. Surratt, in Mt. Olivet Cemetery in Washington. She was the widow, hanged in July 1865 on charges of participating in the plot to assassinate President Lincoln.

The superintendent of the cemetery is puzzled. He recognizes many of the visitors who come frequently to remember their dead, but Mary's faithful admirer remains a mystery. The workmen have been alerted to watch but so far no one has been able to detect the depositor.

Some direct descendants of Mary Surratt live in Baltimore. She lived in Surrattsville, Maryland, where her husband was postmaster. After his death she moved to Washington and opened a boarding house which was frequented

Powell Keeps Up Absentee Record

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy, talking to a group of radio and TV executives recently, got off this crack:

"I know you are interested in the meeting with the new Canadian Prime Minister, Lester Pearson, at Hyannis Port. This meeting almost didn't come off.

"Serious complications arose when the Canadian Ambassador came to see me. Shuffling through some papers on my desk he managed to decipher some rather illegible handwriting and read this marginal notation: 'What will we do with this S.O.B. Pearson?'

"I had a hard time explaining that this was a paper left over from the Truman administration and that the Pearson referred to was Drew."

Adam's Next Junket

Adam Clayton Powell, the No. 1 Harlem Globetrotter, didn't have any trouble getting the House Rules Committee to ok his new junket to Europe. May 26 to June 15, to attend the International Labor Organization meeting in Geneva.

In his usual courtly manner, Chairman Howard Smith, D-Va., asked Powell and Rep. Jimmy Roosevelt, D-Calif., whether they would be willing to submit vouchers on the expenses of their trip.

"That's only proper," replied Roosevelt.

"Of course," said Powell.

When Clarence Brown, the Ohio Republican, remarked, "We don't want to be lonely, we've missed you quite a bit around here," he wasn't entirely fooling. For Powell has an interesting attendance record.

He spent a good part of January in Puerto Rico where he owns a beach house, returned to Washington late in January, then went back to Puerto Rico on February 5.

The Congressman from Harlem remained away from Congress most of February, about one half of March, and about one half of April. In fairness it should be noted that Congress marked time during part of February for the GOP Lincoln Day speeches, and part of April for the Russian Luncheon. However, most chairmen of important committees were on hand to push their bills.

Guest Editorial

MILWAUKEE JOURNAL: Inefficiency in Russia. — The Russian newspaper Pravda recently explained why it has been necessary to set up a big new control system to try to get some efficiency into the economy. It told the sad story of the Dzerzhinski collective farm, located near Moscow.

A trainload of stone which no one had ordered was delivered to the farm. The farm chairman quickly unloaded it to avoid being fined for keeping the railroad cars overtime. However, he hasn't found any use for the stone. A few days later the farm received a shipment of timber it hadn't ordered and didn't want. Then came 60 tons of cement. This was followed by a lot of road building materials. None of this had been ordered. But the farm did order a load of lime from a factory 16 miles away. The factory delivered it to a rail station 19 miles from the farm.

This, Pravda said with understatement, is mismanagement and waste. And all because suppliers were interested only in meeting shipping quotas and not in where they shipped.

No wonder Khrushchev has been saying that the Russians will have to change their ways if they have to copy capitalism.

by Lincoln's conspirators including John Wilkes Booth. Following the hanging, the name Surrattville was changed to Clinton.

Interest in vindicating Mrs. Surratt's name is renewed from time to time on the grounds that she and others involved should have been given a civil trial instead of a military one. They want her name cleared and her town's name restored.

Someone who believes her innocent after 98 years continues to place flowers on her grave but doesn't want to be caught doing it.

Powell, who is chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, has now concocted a compromise plan to give loans and grants to parochial schools for scientific purposes, even though President Kennedy has said this is unconstitutional.

Orville Freeman's Victories

When Billie Sol Estes was in the news, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman made headlines every day. Now that Freeman is winning some important victories, he's scarcely in the headlines at all.

Without any fanfare, the Secretary of Agriculture is putting across his very important feed grain bill, which should be signed by the President some time this week. He's also winning a lot of increasing sentiment for the crucial wheat referendum which comes up next week.

Freeman is winning despite one of the most vicious campaigns against him in American agricultural history by the American Farm Bureau. The Farm Bureau has even circulated stereotyped slides together with tape recordings to farm communities showing a noose around the neck of a wheat farmer. "This is the rope of Orville Freeman," proclaims the tape.

Another slide shows a shock of wheat with bayonets plunged into the sheaves. The tape recording warns: "You'll have federal troops enforcing the wheat program if you vote for it."

As a result of the Farm Bureau's campaign, some of its local bureaus are getting restless and the Webster County Farm Bureau of Guide Rock, Nebraska, has demanded an investigation of reported affiliations between the John Birch Society and the Farm Bureau; whether the American Medical Association contributed to the Farm Bureau in order to get help in defeating the Medicare program among farmers, and whether Farm Bureau really represents the farmers of the U.S.A.

The Webster County Farm Bureau suspects that some Farm Bureau executives are in league with those grain elevator owners who don't want a decreased grain surplus. A decreased surplus obviously means less revenue to the elevator operators who have made a fortune storing grain in recent years.

The World Today

Make Clear-cut Use of Federal Force

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It seems clear that the disorderly forces a president wishes to control may feel free to cut loose unless he says flatly beforehand he will use troops to stop them, if he has to.

President Kennedy used troops in Mississippi and now has them on standby in Alabama. President Eisenhower used them at Little Rock. In each case there was presidential reluctance about employing them.

In each case rioting began before the President decided to use troops.

Eisenhower even went so far in July 1957 as to tell reporters he could imagine no circumstances "that would ever induce me to send federal troops . . . to enforce the orders of a court."

Within three months Arkansas segregationist rioters kept Negro children from a Little Rock school which a federal court had ordered integrated. Not until then did Eisenhower use troops.

In 1962 a federal court ordered James H. Meredith, Negro, admitted to the University of Mississippi. State officials refused to comply. Mobs blocked U. S. marshals trying to take Meredith into the school.

Kennedy simply sent Meredith back with more marshals. Again there was rioting which lasted for hours and killed two men. Not until then did Kennedy send in troops. There were no more riots.

In the Little Rock and Mississippi cases the presidents used troops to carry out court orders. The Constitution says that a president "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

But no court order was involved in the mass demonstrations in Birmingham last week. Negroes were demanding equal treatment with whites. The demonstrations were not riots although they were getting increasingly explosive.

Because there was no court order and no rioting Kennedy was not under compulsion to employ troops.

But if he had warned he would send in troops if rioting started—as it eventually did—there might not subsequently have been any riots or any provocation which brought them on.

While the whole situation was still unpredictable last week—before the rioting started—Kennedy told his news conference: "I've made it clear since assuming the presidency that I would use all available means to protect human rights and uphold the law of the land."

But then, while acknowledging the Birmingham problem was still not settled, he said the demonstrations involved no federal law. The lawless elements in Birmingham might have concluded from this that Kennedy lacked legal authority for using troops to keep order.

At week's end criminals bombed Birmingham Negro dwellings. Negroes rioted against white police. Negroes and police were injured. It was too late then to use troops to prevent disorders. There were none handy.

The rioting ended, perhaps temporarily, with the danger of exploding again at any time. Then Kennedy sent troops into Alabama, not into Birmingham, but to military bases near it.

Alabama's segregationist governor, George C. Wallace, instantly challenged Kennedy to explain his authority for using troops.

When Kennedy announced the troop movement Sunday night he had not explained his authority. Justice Department lawyers, when first asked about it by newsmen, beat around the bush.

They then gave this explanation: Kennedy was acting under federal authority—Title 10, Section 33 of the U.S. Code. It empowers a president to use troops to suppress "domestic violence, unlawful combination or conspiracy" if it interferes with, or denies, citizens of rights or protections guaranteed them by the Constitution.

Monday Kennedy messaged

Wallace this same explanation. But Wallace insisted again, both at a news conference and in a second telegram to Kennedy, that the United States cannot legally call out Army units as long as state and local officers can and will put down violence.

The Justice Department further said the section of the code under which Kennedy acted was exactly the same law he invoked at the University of Mississippi and Eisenhower invoked at Little Rock, although in those two cases the troops were used to back up a court order.

DEAR POLLY — I have never before taken the time or trouble to write any newspaper. But your article about guests doing the dishes after dinner hit the nail on the head as far as I am concerned. It has always been a pet peeve of mine to be invited out to dinner and then spend an hour afterwards in the kitchen cleaning up. I have never seen anything in print concerning this until your recent notation about the woman outlining her pots and pans with pencil so the children and guests would be able to tell where they belonged.

I would much rather be invited to spend the evening with friends and eat at home first than to be invited to dinner and then have to help with the dishes. I am in full accord with you and I certainly let the table stay as is until my guests depart.

So each to his own opinion. Thanks, Mrs. M. J. for your view on the subject, and for writing me your first newspaper letter.—POLLY.

Carry Treatment Kit In Snake-Infested Country

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Since most of the snakes found in this country are not poisonous and since all snakes perform a useful service by preying on small rodents that destroy crops and compete for man's food supply, it is a great mistake to kill them except to identify a snake that has bitten a human being.

If you are so unfortunate as to surprise a venomous snake and are bitten before you have a chance to retreat (remember that no snake in his right mind is going to chase you), you are going to need prompt treatment.

Only most important first aid measures may save your life. The use of a tourniquet and the making of a series of incisions has been advocated for so many years that most persons are afraid not to apply these measures, although there is growing evidence that they do little or no good.

On the other hand, such measures can do harm in that when a tourniquet is applied there is always danger of tissue damage, due to deprivation of the limb below the tourniquet of oxygenated blood.

This increases the danger of gangrene, and incisions increase the danger of infection. If incisions are made they should be few, and should be made only in the vicinity of the bite.

Incisions can do no possible good unless made within 30 minutes of the bite. They should never be made on the hands or feet. Ice packs or immersion in ice water (but never iced salt water) have been advocated. Although they are not universally recommended, they may aid in slowing absorption of the venom.

The sooner after a snake bite that antivenin is given, the better. If it is not readily available at the nearest hospital or pharmacy, try the nearest board of health or the nearest zoo.

One word of caution is required. The antivenin contains horse serum, and in anyone who is sensitive to this substance, the cure may be worse than the disease.

Remember: many persons have survived a snake bite without antivenin. This may be because the snake has recently killed a rodent and has not fully recharged his battery, because the snake is small, because after the fangs penetrated the clothing they didn't get very deep into the skin, or because effective first aid measures were promptly applied.

As soon as possible after the emergency measures have been taken, a booster of tetanus toxoid and an antibiotic should be given, since snake bites are usually grossly contaminated with various disease germs. So if you are going into an unknown area, you should find out about the kinds of venomous snakes that you might encounter. When tramping about in the woods, knee-high leather boots will give you some protection.

Look well where you step and where you place your hands. Be sure to carry a snake bite kit with you if the area is known to have poisonous snakes. If you never use the kit, it is still money well spent.

Truth---and Consequences

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR Mrs. Lawrence: My 80-year-old mother is impossible to get along with. Two days ago she asked me what I had done with some silver candlesticks she had given me. I told her she had given them, not to me, but to my brother. She called me a liar, accused me of selling the candlesticks, and became so angry I telephoned my sister-in-law to prove I was right. Since then she won't come to meals. . .

ANSWER: If your mother has always regarded herself as your Supreme Benefactor, this is not unusual behavior in a person of her age.

In old age, a parent's unsatisfied craving for appreciation can force her to confuse fact and fiction. Your mother may so desperately need to believe that she has placed you under obligation to her that she really believes she gave you those candlesticks. It is your problem that you tried to refute her delusion with the truth. She has ceased to be interested in truth. All her waning energies are employed in maintaining the supporting picture of herself as a Great Giver.

Probably, that picture of herself has always existed in her imagination. That it now irritates you suggests that you have not realized this and so still see her with a child's blind, idealizing eyes. Had you ever really understood the depth of her craving for admiration, you would have fed it two days ago instead of allowing her to make a scene. You would not have agreed that she gave you the candlesticks but would have expressed gratitude for some real favor she has done you — the sweater she knitted for you, for example. You would have ignored her unreasonable-ness to see the craving behind it—and fed it as one would feed a starving child.

As our parents age, their faults that have been hidden from us become clear.

The "generosity" we still half-admire is shown to be what it has always been — helpless dependence on others' admiration. Mother expresses this dependence by demanding our gratitude for a gift she never made us. We are shocked and angry. We force the truth on her. But the time for truth between us and our aged parents is past.

We are not entitled to anger. We should have noted Mother's hunger for admiration years ago. And if we were going to refuse to feed it, we should have done our refusing years ago. Now she is an old woman and the time for protest is gone. Now there is only the feeding to do.

POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I used to have a real problem keeping the straps of my sling-back pumps from falling down behind my heels. I inserted a tiny piece of foam rubber behind each strap and it worked like a charm. The pieces I used had gone through the washing machine just prior to my using them so they stuck like glue. However, I suppose any glue could be used to hold the rubber to the inside of the straps. — MRS. O. H.

DEAR POLLY — Put the leftovers from balls of knitting wool in glass jars and store in the cellar. This method keeps the moths out and you can see at a glance the colors on hand.

Baseball Ratings A Mixed-up Deal

By JIM HACKLEMAN

So, the Boston Red Sox are in second place in the American League. So, what's so funny about that?

Aren't the Chicago White Sox, like Boston Red Sox are in second place in the American League. So, what's so funny about that?

The Red Sox put the slug on the Washington Senators 8-5 Monday night and the Los Angeles Angels whipped the White Sox 7-3 in the only games on the AL schedule.

The results eased Boston into the runner-up spot, one game back of Chicago and 10 percentage points ahead of the A's, and put the Angels into a sixth-place tie with Cleveland at the .500 level.

In the only National League game, the Houston Colts climbed out of sole occupancy of the cellar with their fifth straight victory, outlasting the New York Mets 4-2 in a runaway turned cliffhanger. Houston now shares ninth place with Milwaukee.

The Red Sox belted seven extra-batters among their 11 hits, including a three-run homer by Bob Tillman in the sixth inning that stood up as the clincher. Frank Malzone and Dick Stuart also homered for Boston. Chuck Schilling rapped a pair of doubles, and Carl Yastrzemski and Lu Clinton tripled.

Washington starter Don Rudolph was routed in the first when Schilling doubled. Yastrzemski tripled. Malzone homered and Clinton singled—and the Senators never caught up.

Tall Gene Conley was credited with the pitching victory, his second in three decisions, with strong help from Dick Radatz. The fireballing reliever came on in the seventh after Jim King's two-run homer and limited Washington to one hit the rest of the way.

The Angels also went on a long-bail binge in beating Chicago for the second time in a row, while the White Sox had a frustrating evening on the bases.

Leon Wagner smacked his seventh homer and two singles for Los Angeles. Ed Sadowski homered and singled, George Thomas hit a homer, and Jim Fregosi cracked a triple and two-run double. The Angels went ahead 4-1 with three runs in the fourth, when Fregosi doubled after a single by Wagner and a walk, and Sadowski's single delivered Fregosi. They put it out of reach in the seventh, when Sadowski homered and Wagner singled in a run.

The White Sox blew several chances but the big one was in the second—when they managed just one run on four singles and an Angel error. One runner was nailed attempting to score on a grounder, another was run down between third and home after a missed bunt, and Wagner's perfect throw from left field got J. C. Martin trying to come in from second on a single by losing pitcher Eddie Fisher.

Houston right-hander Bob Bruce turned back the Mets on just two hits and struck out 11 through eight innings but lost his shut out and complete game bid with two away in the ninth.

Bruce walked leadoff man Duke Snider in the ninth, got the next two Mets, but then hit pinch hitter Choo Choo Coleman and walked Charlie Neal.

After yielding a pinch two-run single to Chris Cannizzaro, Bruce was relieved by Don McMahon, who struck out Cliff Cook.

Roger Craig allowed eight hits and the Mets committed four errors, with misplays by Craig and Tim Harkness leading to two unearned runs.

Washington Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

PUNISHMENT: The House has given a form of official sanction to the old adage "Spare the rod and spoil the child."

It passed legislation Monday that would allow teachers in the nation's capital to physically punish unruly pupils.

This back-to-the-woodshed move was recommended by a study of the district's public schools after a riot broke out last Thanksgiving at a city high school football championship game between a predominantly white Catholic school and a predominantly Negro public school.

The House sent the measure to the Senate by a 277 to 53 roll call vote.

Another measure that would permit suspension or expulsion of incorrigible youngsters within the age of compulsory attendance was approved without dissent.

NO NEWS CONFERENCE: The White House announced Monday that President Kennedy will not hold a news conference this week. His previous one was last Wednesday.

PUBLIC DEFENDERS: "To a serious extent, the scales of justice in this country are weighted against the poor," so testified Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to the Senate Judiciary Committee Monday.

He and William P. Rogers, attorney general in the Eisenhower administration, both supported an administration bill to provide counsel and other legal services in federal criminal cases for defendants unable to pay for them.

THE LIGHT SIDE: With tongue in cheek, President Kennedy reminded 79 foreign military officers of the warning that military men should stay out of politics.

"But I must say," he added, "that politics brought me from

Drills About Finished

Big Eight Grid Coaches In An Optimistic Mood

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oklahoma or no Oklahoma, Big Eight football coaches are in an optimistic mood with spring football drills almost finished.

"We are ahead of last year's team at this point," said Rob Devaney after watching his Nebraska first team beat the second squad 21-15 Saturday. Fleet Kent McCloughan raced 88 yards with a kickoff for a first team, touchdown after the second team had taken an early lead.

Dennis Claridge, the No. 1 quarterback, was outstanding as expected. More important was the fine play of the No. 2 man, Fred Duda.

Nebraska's 9-2 won-lost record last year was the best since the Rose Bowl team of 1941, so Devaney's optimism is significant.

You need a wide lens to view the massive Nebraska line. The first four tackles, all seniors, average 231. From tackle to tackle, only five of the first 35 linemen are under 200 pounds.

Iowa State also wound up spring drills last week and Coach Clay Stapleton had this to say:

"... the staff was real pleased with their progress. I thought we were more aggressive than ever before."

Colorado's varsity lost to an alumni team loaded with professional standouts, 14-6, but a record spring crowd of 11,500 saw a bruising game.

Bill Symons, varsity halfback, scored on a zig-zag 84-yard run and the varsity tackled viciously. New coach Eddie Crowder commented:

"Our guys were not intimidated by an outstanding and big alumni squad."

Jack Mitchell, Kansas coach, watched freshman giant Steve Renko complete 13 of 26 passes in a final rehearsal for Saturday's alumni game.

Sid Micek and converted halfback Dave Crandall also continued to impress Mitchell. Despite the loss of senior quarterback Brian Palmer, who quit the squad, Mitchell said:

"I feel our quarterback situation is just about solved. We need a lot more work on both offense and defense, but we're coming along."

The Kansas alumni will have halfback Gale Sayers in top form. Oklahoma State will finish spring ball with an intra-squad game Saturday. New Coach Phil Cutchin was guarded in his praise but named four men as showing winning consistency. They are tackle Rusty Martin, fullback Walt Garrison, guard Bob Howard and end Jack Jacobson.

Coach Dan Devine of Missouri, looking back on the spring session said: "It appears we will be strongest defensively again. We spent more time on defense than offense last year and we're going to do it again this fall."

"Compared to '62, we are weak in the defensive secondary, our pass receiving is poor and we don't have a speed boy in the backfield."

Kansas State finished spring ball in March. Oklahoma's, defending Big Eight champions finished April 20 with a loss to the alumni.

Rejoining of Hand Appears As Success

NEW YORK (AP) — Physicians at Brooklyn's Jewish Hospital were given a left-handed compliment Monday.

By waving the little finger of his left hand, Henry Granville, 19, paid a tribute to modern surgery which restored the hand after it had been cut off in an industrial accident 25 days ago.

Dr. Maxwell Felton, 30, staff surgeon at the hospital, rejoined Granville's hand in a five-hour operation.

There have been other cases of successful similar surgery in the past year.

Dodger Third Base Problem In Good Hands

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Dodgers' troublesome third base problem has been placed in the capable hands of the National League's Most Valuable Player—Maury Wills.

Wills, who stole 104 bases last year for a major league record, is the sixth man that Manager Walt Alton has tried at the hot corner this season.

Tommy Davis, Don Zimmer, Daryl Spencer, Ken McMillen and Jim Gilliam all have had a fling at the job.

Wills, who suffered a severe ankle wrench in the opening game this year at Chicago, still is a bit hobbled, and going in either direction for a ball isn't going to help the healing process. But at third base he won't have so much ground to cover, and his powerful throwing arm is ideal for the long throw to first.

Alton says Wills, who was used at third Sunday as the Dodgers swept their three-game series with the San Francisco Giants, will be back there tonight against Philadelphia. Alton is interested in shoring his defenses—and with good reason. The Dodgers are the worst fielding team in the majors, the statistics disclose.
